INTUITION

The red-haired woman said glass is tense. She didn't know about disordered silica chains, rings and structural frustration. She just looked at its fractured green edge.